SpeaKESL Announces New Partner in Japan

Tokyo, Japan May 18th 2004 – SpeaKESL has developed a revolutionary software application, SpeaK! based on the latest speech recognition technology to help increase ones English skills. SpeaK! listens to you read aloud and gives you immediate feedback on the quality of your spoken English. SpeaK! will pronounce any passages or words you request so you can listen and rapidly improve your pronunciation. SpeaK! also translates difficult words into your native language.

Associated Liberal Creators (ALC Press, Inc) is a leader in publishing magazines and books, production of multimedia educational materials and computer software study materials and teaching aids. In addition, ALC Press offers correspondence courses, in-house training and language testing. ALC Press and SpeaKESL have agreed to partner and offer rich and innovative content using SpeaKESL technology. ALC Press will offer specific English educational content using SpeaK! which has been development to dramatically increase ones spoken English.

About Associated Liberal Creators (ALC Press, Inc)

ALC Press, Inc was launched in 1969 with the idea of creating a global network for communication among individuals and organizations involved in education and intellectual exchange. ALC has grown into a one-of-a-kind corporation that transcends the conventional concept of publishing.

About SpeaKESL

SpeaKESL is developing and bringing to market software applications that combine highly accurate speech recognition and other technologies with educational science to dramatically improve the acquisition of language skills. These highly novel and differentiated technologies are very beneficial to a market of more than one billion people worldwide using English as Second Language (ESL). SpeaKESL enables students to become highly proficient in English with less than 20 minutes a day of entertaining effort. Less time, more interesting, and lower cost than current methods! SpeaKESL is growing and its offices are located throughout the World.
